RICH BARONS WOULD MAKE GUNMEN OF SCHOOL BOYS

Federation of Labor Delegate Raises Objection to Military Training For High School Students—Would Make Them Hired Sluggers
and Thugs He Says

North Shore millionaires who originated the idea of a high school boy militia were condemned at the meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday.

Julius Lichtenstein, delegate from Painters' Union No. 275, called the attention of the federation to the Tribune story on how the residents of Highland Park and Lake Forest were going to ask congress to pass an appropriation to equip high school students for military training.

"The public has grown to dislike the idea of hired sluggers and gunmen in strikes, so the bosses propose to fit high school boys to take their places. Let us ask congress for an equal appropriation with equal rights. Let us be allowed to keep guns and ammunition in our homes
